

ABSTRACT

The following article report the case of a 72-year-old female with no relevant pathological history, who is admitted due to chronic secretory diarrhea, oropharyngeal dysphagia, proximal muscle weakness, dermal involvement and multinodular goiter; with images and complementary studies compatible with the diagnosis of a benign VIPoma associated with paraneoplastic dermatomyositis and type IIIC polyglandular syndrome due to the concomitant present of Hashimoto´s thyroiditis and autoimmune pancreatitis. The patient received treatment with corticosteroids pulse therapy, immunosuppressants (cyclophosphamide) and somatostatin analogues; evolving favorably, and being discharge following out patient management. This is the first case reported in our Country. This is the first case reported of this association in our country.

BIOGRAPHY

Hugo García, is a 30 years old doctor, who graduted first in his class in 2015; he finish his residency in internal medicine in 2021. He is a member of the peruvian internal medicine society. he had published many articles in local medical journals; he working at Rebagliti hospital in the internal medicine departement and he is also a member of the neuroendocrine tumor study group.

Presenter name: Hugo Garcia

Mode of presentation: Oral/poster

Contac number: +51 994 769 581

